We expect our harvest to begin next week, which is at least 10 days ahead of average. The sample is collected in the FGIS lab at the elevator and the shipping bins remain closed while FGIS inspects each sample. When there was just a threat of it, they stopped buying.

Drought, Heat Bake Pacific Northwest Soft White Wheat Crops

DTN is based in Minneapolis with offices globally. We have auto-header-height John Deere headers that will help.

From wheat to semiconductors, the love is mutual between Japan and the Northwest on the subject of commerce

In addition to soybean farmers, corn and wheat growers have also felt the pressure of the trade war. But the drought is shriveling wheat kernels and raising protein levels, making the some of the crop less valuable. SWW is grown primarily in Idaho, Oregon and Washington, making for about 90% to 95% of the annual production.
