Environment, climate change and disasters

Climate change may drive other changes too, including prolonged dry seasons and increasing storm frequency and intensity.

Evaluation Detail

The work at the provincial level expresses a good Viet Nam practice and might be further documented as a case study for a full-scale follow-up focused on the three levels of capacities: institutional enforcing regulation, ecosystems services, etc. I would also thank the Embassy of Sweden for providing funding support for this work under the Building an Enabling Environment for Sustainable Development project.

Natural resources sector reviews future goals

The issue of CC is now high on the agenda of the Government as demonstrated by the ongoing formulation of a Viet Nam's National Target Programme to Respond to Climate Change NTP RCC. BORAVAST Project on capacity building for natural resources management and monitoring.

Our Team

The government of Viet Nam has estimated that accumulated flash floods accounted for more than 6% of deaths and 5% of total economic losses over the last ten years.

Natural resources sector reviews future goals

Obviously, the new Law on Environmental Protection LEP has integrated all necessary areas. What are some of the emerging frameworks for valuing climate-related damage in key sectors such as agriculture and water resource management? The circular economy strategy has strong potential to catalyze positive environmental change and guide sustainable development pathways for Cambodia.

Evaluation Detail

The project team did a lot to compensate for these structural issues in terms of adaptive management.

United Nations Development Programme and Ministry of Environment, Natural Resources, Conservation and Tourism to Host First National Stakeholder Workshop on Biodiversity Finance

Such a role would include joint advocacy for additional longer-term work on capacity building to support the implementation of the tools piloted, building indicators, developing monitoring systems, and undertaking planning with high level participants. The negative economic impact for farmers and poultry producers and the potential risk to human health in case of widespread transmission to humans, threatens to seriously undermine the economic and social development progress achieved by Viet Nam in recent years. The leader of PSC was a woman, and the project coordinator and senior official of the ISPONRE was also a woman.

UNDP Climate Change Adaptation Indicator Framework CBA projects also track quantitative indicators from UNDP's adaptation indicator framework, corresponding to the thematic area on natural resources management. Widespread adoption of circular economy models can significantly reduce the use of natural resources and energy. During 2005 — 2007, she was a National Program Officer at the Viet Nam office, Spanish Agency for International Cooperation.
