Level 3 Botany Diploma Entry Requirements All students must be 16 years of age and above to enrol onto our Level 3 Botany Diploma course. Below is the complete semester wise syllabus of BSc Botany.

Botany: The Original Natural Science

Provides a conceptual framework for understanding how the wide range of available large-scale technologies can be applied to solve biological problems.

Plant Lesson Plans

Sometimes your local branch may not have a copy of a book that you might need, but you can request it from another branch and it will be sent to you. Recommended: One year of biology BOT 425, FLORA OF THE PACIFIC NORTHWEST, 3 Credits Vascular plant identification, terminology, and diagnostic characteristics of plant families. Emphasizes the use of recent technological advances and genome-wide assays that enable investigation of these topics.

Introductory Plant Science: Investigating the Green World

Learning the conceptual framework and computational techniques of genomics to study the ecology of plant-microbe interactions at the ecosystem level. Lab emphasizes the use of keys for identification to the species level and ability to recognize by sight those plant families found in the Pacific Northwest. This is the complete study of relationships between uses of plants and cultures.

Introductory Plant Science: Investigating the Green World

Plant studies will also form part of most biology undergraduate degrees but when moving onto post-graduate study, this becomes increasingly specialised. It affords the opportunity for them to see that trees are veritable climatic engines.
