Tim Duffy Optometrist, Vision Splendid

But at the present moment, though Tristran's friend was sitting at his manuscript-strewn writing-table, he was not working; he was leaning back in his tall chair, seeming not a little exhausted. Hungerford, I believe—we parted half an hour ago, and I was to meet him at some place whose name I have forgotten; then I have the contretemps with the infant and have lost the way also.

But it can't be serious, or he would not be able to yell like that.

Tim Duffy Optometrist, Vision Splendid

When he had returned from Oxford yesterday morning, the morning after the dance, expecting to speed his guest on his way, he had been met by the young man's apologetic request to be allowed to stay another night if convenient to his host. Hard work kept him thin, but he was like a lath for toughness. He was taking me to pay a call upon M.

A Vision Splendid Poem by Victor Daley

Still, the man who stood silent there at the window, in what bitter pain he could guess, was able to see her go.

Horatia's loneliness and culture shock in France are melancholy but well-painted.

The Vision Splendid: A Social and Cultural History of Rural Australia

Want to begin at the top instid of at the bottom. Rather than being prohibitively expensive, energy can be cost-competitive and plentiful.
