They are then held together with two in the top and bottom hole. The sudden shift from a dark forest to a bright schoolyard on the first stab would convey the distress of the murder without showing it.

Screenplay

CONTRAZOOM The Hitchcock zoom, also known as the contra-zoom or the Vertigo effect is an unsettling in-camera special effect that appears to undermine normal visual perception in a way that is difficult to describe. Winning or placing highly in one of the can be a good way of grabbing the attention of screenwriting managers and screenwriting agents.

The Screenwriter's Legal Guide by Stephen F. Breimer

As a result, many newer screenwriters start their careers with no legal agreements of any kind. Some of you may have heard about it or even signed it during your employment for instance. Know that you are not alone.
