Facilitating Spontaneity: The State and Independent Volunteering in Contemporary Japan

In: Childbearing and Careers of Japanese Women Born in the 1960s. AVENELL is an Assistant Professor in the Department of Japanese Studies at the National University of Singapore. Although the 1990s have been hailed as the beginning of Japan's volunteer revolution, the paper concludes that this period is better understood as an outcome of earlier state policies which helped fashion independent volunteering into a form of service by domesticated, self-reliant subjects.
