Don Bradman in popular culture

His appearances throughout the country were like one continuous farewell matinée. He needed just four in his last Test innings, at The Oval in 1948, to ensure an average of 100 - but was out second ball for 0, a rare moment of human failing that only added to his everlasting appeal. In these circumstances the defaulting Buyer can have no claim upon Leski Auctions in the event that the items are sold for an amount greater than the original invoiced amount.

It used to be said that the Australian people were a tough-minded lot who made heroes of none, and raised no idols, except perhaps an outlaw, Ned Kelly, and Carbine, a horse. He is a great batsman. Grimmett was not, in fact, the only wrist-spinner to make the great man seem, at times, almost mortal.
