And if sewer gas should come to us hidden in the aroma of roses, spices, and citron groves, it becomes, because of its borrowed attractions, far more dangerous than if it had no odour at all. The earth from her brown bosom drew her flowers in mute thanks- giving, And a radiance more than earthly flUed the air, and swept the sky.

. Wonderful indeed has been the history of America. She was great in it once.

Full text of nation's birthday; Chicago's centennial celebration of Washington's inauguration, April 30,

Even so, she was not considered quite so talented as her elder sister. The great West inherited none of the jealousies and bickerings which preceded the day when Washington was inaugurated Presi- dent, and which continued to linger and still strive to cling to life in certain sections, but circumstances have thrust upon it evils as great, and it now stands facing a duty as sacred as that which formed the colonies into a nation.
