Subordinate legislation tools to support the new Act

The Executive has provided a memorandum to assist the Committee in its deliberations, reproduced at. · Section 2 provides for the short title of the Bill and includes the power to commence section 1.

12th Report, 2013 (Session 4): Report on Subordinate Legislation

The purpose behind paragraph 6 a is to avoid persons being invited to make representations where the Scottish Ministers are privy to information that it is clearly inappropriate to extend such invitation.

The Scottish Parliament

The Welsh Ministers notify the Committee of commencement orders, but they are not usually scrutinised by the Committee.

Subordinate legislation tools to support the new Act

If the Senedd does not object, then the subordinate legislation continues to have effect it 'continues' to have effect because the subordinate legislation will have automatically taken effect as soon as it was made available to the public. Some subordinate legislation is not subject to any formal procedure other than it must be laid before the Senedd. Otherwise please explain why the provisions are considered to be sufficiently clear.

Update for EPS 95 Pensioners

At its meeting on 22 February 2011, the Subordinate Legislation Committee considered the delegated powers provisions in the Wildlife and Natural Environment Scotland Bill as amended at Stage 2. Section 27 2 a of that Act provides a default rule that functions conferred on the Scottish Ministers to make regulations are exercisable by SSI.

Update for EPS 95 Pensioners

It is suggested that considerable distress might be caused to families by such inappropriate invitation. Section 109 of the Government of Wales Act 2006 allows Her Majesty, by Order in Council, to amend , provided that a draft of the Order has first been approved by the Senedd and both Houses of Parliament.

12th Report, 2015 (Session 4): Subordinate Legislation

As well as being incapable of countersigning, such a person would be incapable of making representations.
