Hoffman's Course of Legal Study

It is recommended that students take the Professional Responsibility course before or concurrently with Law Practice Management. Students will also consider the unique professional conduct concerns and opportunities presented by technology in law practice. In addition to a discussion of ethical problems involved in the practice of law, an overview of all phases of the profession will be undertaken, including disciplinary proceedings, the functions of Bar organizations and unauthorized practice.

Hoffman's Course of Legal Study

His A Course of Legal Study 1817 and Legal Outlines 1829 played a critical role in the development of law school curricula and provided guidance to hundreds of antebellum law students and attorneys. Also covered are various law office systems: docket, tickler, trust accounting, timekeeping, etc.

A course of legal study, addressed to students and the profession generally (1968 edition)

This course is designed to provide an overview of the issues involved in managing a law office. Hoffman designed the course to require between five and seven years to complete, but believed it should take at least seven.

A course of legal study, addressed to students and the profession generally (1968 edition)

Students who want to focus on a particular topic related to legal ethics and the legal profession can do so as a directed study. This course helps students understand the economic pressures, technological changes, and globalization facing the legal profession in the 21st century, and to assist students in successfully navigating their legal career given these challenges. He helped to found the University of Maryland Law School in 1816 and was its first professor.
