9 Reasons We Need Young Voters More Than Ever

Having seen my father build a successful manufacturing business, I could feel his passion for contributing to making things that people use.

Elevate

Through scholarships, computer classes, internships and school renovations, Colibri Foundation has supported Indonesian young people to continue growing since 2003. I was amazed at how many young adults seemed to know each other as they gathered at the Frying Pan for drinks on Saturday afternoon.

Meet the young people fighting for future generations

According to the ILO, opportunities for jobs in 2030 fall into three categories: 1.

The future is becoming a burden on the young. These three principles could protect the generations to come

Over the last few years has been a sobering read. Inscribing in constitutions a principle of intergenerational equity — of sustainably administering the future as a common good — may be the best antidote to human short-termism. It's not like there's no support out there.

Elevate

I realise that choosing the profession I want to follow — and the A-levels and university courses that will get me there — is a decision of paramount importance.

Youth Futures Foundation

It's easy to lose hope when we look at the barriers facing boys of color. Many postsecondary instructors teach part time, and some teach classes at multiple schools.
