Pursuant to an agreement signed by China and the UK on 19 December 1984, Hong Kong became the Hong Kong Special Administrative Region SAR of the People's Republic of China on 1 July 1997. If thoroughly investigated, this could be an opportunity as almost half of the population lives in informal dwellings and settlements. While his successful election has been seen as an important step towards national reconstruction, with about 75% of the population living below the poverty line and large swaths of the country still controlled by anti-government rebels and militia groups the path to recovery is still very long.
