Regional Planning

However, when communities face budgetary constraints, planning departments may be reduced before other services, such as police forces or education. History of Urban and Regional Planner Career Cities have always been planned to some degree. A significant portion of our alumni have attended graduate schools.

Urban and Regional Planner Career Information

Some planners work more than 40 hours per week. Regional plans address the needs of the entire region rather than just one municipality. Some planners work more than 40 hours per week.

REGIONAL PLANNING

In addition, a regional planning project may be drawn up for an administrative raion in an oblast or for a group of raions.

Municipal and Regional Planning Assistance

Cities are a tangible part of your world that become part of your daily life: the school where you grew up, your favorite grocery store, that graffiti-covered traffic sign you pass on the way to work, that old man always sitting on the park bench. Urban and regional planners may travel to inspect proposed changes and their impacts on land conditions, the environment, and land use.
