The Radio 4 timeline

Below are 10 of the best poetry audiobooks in our catalog. The poems I enjoyed enough to put a mark against are: - The Daffodils by William Wordsworth - He wishes for the cloths of heaven by W. There we watched Primary Geography and saw places that seemed a world away such as Gozo.

BBC RADIO COLLECTION: THE NATION'S FAVOURITE POEMS

One such experiment was the transmission of content for children. Palmer composed settings for 32 of the 36 poems.

The nation's 'favourite' Christmas film has been crowned

This unique anthology brings together the results of the poll in a collection of the nation's 100 best loved poems. I think I was a part of the choir for at least two years 1970-72? Now I've managed to read it in its entirety, and it hasn't lost any of its punch. This unique anthology brings together over forty poems from the poll, including the top ten.

BBC Audio

The poem is still as fantastic as it always was.

The Nation's Favourite Poems Of Childhood by Various

The first edition came from the Smallshaw Garden Society in Ashton-Under-Lyne in 1947, and the first question, put by the chairman of the association Mr Hopwood, was about the merits of double digging in an area of wet soil! Presenter Lauren Laverne continues the tradition to this day.

10 Best Poetry Audiobooks

There is a poetry group in the village too, but this book was chosen for the book group, not the poetry group. There's radio drama based on the works of some of our most popular and significant writers including William Shakespeare, Agatha Christie, Anthony Trollope, Arthur Conan Doyle, Samuel Pepys and Alan Bennett. From the BBC Oral History Collection.

The Nation's Favourite Poems: Book 1 by Griff Rhys Jones

And in an echo from the past, it has also produced its own hardware, a pocket-sized computer called the BBC micro:bit. To my mind, they're not all humorous, but then I'm absolutely certain that some of the ones I found funny would not appeal to others, so in this case I guess that makes it a good collection - there is something there for everyone.

The Nation's Favourite Poems von Griff Rhys Jones

The programme survived the deaths of the early panellists, celebrating its 50th birthday in 1997 and under Eric Robson chair for 25 years and latterly Kathy Clugston continues to delight gardeners the length of the UK.
