Sasse Responds to State GOP Efforts To Censure Him Over Comments About Trump

In 1847 Marx and Engels founded the earliest international working-class organization — the Communist League. Our proposal was agreed to by the CPSU.

Open letter to the Central Committee of the Socialist Workers' Party from union activists

On July 14, that is, on the eve of the U. The frankly unfriendly actions of the CPC leaders, their persistent striving to aggravate the controversy in the international communist movement, the deliberate distortion of our party's position, the misinterpretation of our motives in temporarily refraining from publishing the letter, impel us to publish the letter of the CPC Central Committee of June 14, 1963, and to give our appraisal of it.

Open letter to the SWP

But, it appears, some comrades have decided that Lenin was wrong. It is not at all clever of you to make this slander. .

They value highly the Soviet Union's big contribution to the common struggle for peace, democracy, national freedom and independence, and socialism. In Australia, the CPC Central Committee tried to organize splitting activities against the Communist party and its leadership with the help of a former member of the leadership, E Hill. The Communist Party of China resolutely opposed the errors of the 22nd Congress of the CPSU.

Open Letter of the Central Committee of the CPSU to All Party Organizations (July 14, 1963)

Publication of the letter would, naturally, have required a public reply on our part; this would have further aggravated the controversy and inflamed passions, and would have thereby worsened relations between our parties. Kim Il-sung condemned the nationalist leaders in , criticizing by name and , and the general standard of living in the southern half under American occupation. .

In the international communist movement, is there such a thing as a leadership which lords it over all fraternal Parties? They have directed the edge of struggle, which should be against U. Even though it creates temporary difficulties for the international communist movement and some fraternal Parties, it is a good thing that the revisionists have revealed their true features and that a struggle between Marxism-Leninism and revisionism has ensued. For the sake of genuine unity in the international communist ranks and for the sake of the common struggle against imperialism and reaction, we hold that it is necessary to unfold normal discussions on the differences and that serious questions of principle should not be settled in a hurry by abnormal methods or simply by vote.

Only given such hegemony, can the movement, in the final analysis, acquire a genuine socialist character, culminating in its transition to the path of socialist revolution. The world revolutionary process is developing successfully. It was the Communist Party of the Soviet Union and the Soviet state which, under the leadership of Lenin and Stalin, pursued a Marxist-Leninist domestic and foreign policy, scored unprecedented achievements in socialist construction, made the greatest contribution to victory in the war against fascism and gave internationalist support to the revolutionary struggles of the proletariat and working people of all other countries.

We also soberly appraise the radical, qualitative change of the means of waging war and, accordingly, its possible consequences. To oppose the first socialist country in the world and the Party founded by the great Lenin — what insolence! We finally conceded the point only out of consideration for the repeatedly expressed wish of the leaders of the CPSU that the formulation should show some connection with that of the 20th Congress of the CPSU.
