A Psychometric Study of Literary

It was his argument that the poet was not inspired by the divine, but was instead motivated by basic human desire to imitate the universe around him. This view of poetry, it is argued, leads to a recognition of its essential role in education, and provides a set of principles for an approach to teaching it which integrates the study of language and literature. Practical Criticism was born of an experiment Richards undertook to discern the psychological foundations of reading and interpretation and a means for readers to discover how they think and feel about poetry.
