What is Neonatal Nursing

With this program, we have provided education to over 200 nurses, residents, fellows, and attending physicians. Graduate Education If you plan to pursue work in advanced practice nursing, you will need a master's or doctoral degree. Hospital Of The University Of Pennsylvania Intensive Care Nursery ICN The Hospital of the University of Pennsylvania HUP is located adjacent to CHOP in University City.

Pediatrics and Neonatology

Neonatal research The Children's Hospital of Philadelphia is a leader in the advancement of basic and clinical research.

Clinical

We look forward to hearing from you.

Neonatology

This program consists of 5 courses, many of which are offered in short summer courses, and provides comprehensive training in epidemiology and biostatistics.

Neonatology/Newborn Issues

Fellows are involved in the resuscitation of neonates born with congenital defects including congenital diaphragmatic hernia CDH, congenital heart disease, omphalocele, gastroschisis, myelomeningocele, sacrococcygeal teratoma, lower urinary tract obstruction, and congenital pulmonary airway malformation, among various other diagnoses. These include the Neonatal Craniofacial Program, the Neonatal Airway Program, and the Neonatal Neurocritical Care Program. Applicants are advised to access their file frequently to ensure timely submission of all components of their application.

NEONATOLOGY FOR THE CLINICIAN

Fellow Program Liaison Fellow Neonatologists — Colm Travers, M. Our Chronic Lung Disease Program provides multidisciplinary care to patients with the most severe form of this neonatal morbidity. Neonatal fellows train in a number of clinical environments across three institutions, giving them the opportunity to learn not only from a large faculty of neonatologists but also from the subspecialists involved in the care of neonatal patients.

Journal of Neonatology and Clinical Pediatrics

Staff nurses may provide highly technical care for acutely ill infants or supportive care for convalescent or mildly ill newborns. The ICN provides comprehensive care for a wide variety of complex infants including those requiring therapeutic hypothermia, echocardiography, all modes of radiographic assessment, interventional radiology, and ophthalmologic intervention.

Clinical

This policy applies to all candidates for employment other than those with regularly scheduled hours in New Jersey for all positions, including those covered by the Collective Bargaining Agreement. If you're interested in working as an advanced practice nurse, in the near future a doctor of nursing practice DNP will be required.
