Nebraska National Forest

A national forest and a park full of history? Hunting is allowed in season and fishing is allowed year-round and the reservoir has northern pike, walleye, largemouth bass, yellow perch and channel catfish. The area provides habitat for elk, white-tailed deer, mule deer, turkeys, coyotes, bobcats, eagles, hawks, the threatened Bald eagle, and numerous other wildlife. The Seven Principles of Leave No Trace provide an easily understood framework of minimum impact practices for anyone visiting the outdoors.
