Kornelia Röder: Ray Johnson and the Mail Art Scene in Eastern Europe

Thus, Eastern mail artists focussed particularly on those topics that were banished from public discussion. Such communicative meeting places were suspicious to the state and therefore controlled or, even worse, shut down. The series contains Hungarian translation of articles and studies about correspondence art.

Piotr Rypson, Mail Art in Poland, in: Mail Art — Osteuropa im internationalen Netzwerk, ed. Galántai, for example, communicated all his underground activities such as video, performances, radio and sound art through the network. With the support of Ray Johnson, Galántai's contacts were multiplied, and likewise for all participants.
