The Peace Movement 1914

British Library EThOS: Great Britain and naval arms control : international law and security 1898

While the banks had ties to arms manufacturers, it was those companies that had links to the military, not the banks, which were pacifistic and profoundly hostile to the prospect of war. The organisation was founded in 1984. It was not until hostilities had begun that Madison discovered how woefully inadequate American preparations for war were.
