Sary Chelek lake is located 500 km from Bishkek and 300 km from Osh, in the territory of the Sary Chelek State Biosphere Reserve. Sary Chelek receives water from numerous little streams flowing into it from the surrounding mountain gorges, to be a source for the river Kojo-Ata. For the whole of his life he would weave beautiful baskets in the form of a bucket from willow twigs and give them to people.

The area around the lake.

Lake Sary Chelek in Kyrgyzstan.

To the southeast of Lake Sary Chelek there are several other small lakes - Kyla-Kol, Iri-Kol, Chocha-Kol and Round. Lake Sary Chelek and the mountains around it remain the most popular part of the eastern Chatkal Range. The reserve and adjoining territories include river valleys with steep walls and numerous boulders, where the streams form rapid cascades and picturesque waterfalls.
