About

The printed references, not one of which has escaped M. She researched incidents similar to the one in the book and used the area around her home and cottage Loon Lake to describe the terrain.

The Incredible Journey by Sheila Burnford

Although the book was based in Northwestern Ontario, it was actually filmed in the Toronto area. They are desperately fleeing from the Nazi advance when suddenly tragedy strikes and he is left alone and must fend for himself. Sheila Burnford has written a beautiful, moving story, woven from many fine threads.

Bel Ria: Dog of War by Sheila Burnford

. I've read it many times. Juast as the German myths describe Odin and Zio as accompanied by ravens and wolves, which folow them to the battle field, and prey upon the slain, so the Irish poets, in their laugations of particular heroes, boast of the number of ravens and wolves fed by their spears.

Bel Ria by Sheila Burnford

You will not find a lot of focus on the details of this historical time p A really great story. In the grand old Irish epic of the Tain Bo Cuailnge, Badb or Bodb plays a very important part.

Popular tradition also bears testimony to the former widespread belief in the magical powers of the Badb. The next meeting between Cuchullain and the Morrigan is very curious. In the series you'll discover great works of many sorts: tales of daring and adventure like Jan Terlouw's Winter in Wartime and Sheila Burnford's Bel Ria: Dog of War; yarns of magic and whimsy like Nancy Willard's The Adventures of Anatole and Daniel Pinkwater's Lizard Music; and stories of bravery and resistance like Jean Merrill's The Pushcart War and Anita Desai's The Village By the Sea.

Whether it would stand up to a historian's scrutiny, I cannot judge. In 1984 Sheila Burnford died of lung cancer.
