China and India: Maritime Maneuvers and Geopolitical Shifts in the Indo

Since India and Pakistan conducted their nuclear tests in 1998, every danger associated with nuclear weapons — proliferation, instability, and terrorism — has been linked to the region.

South Korea Is Caught Between China and the United States

In 2009, Malaysia and Vietnam made a joint submission to the United Nations Commission on the Limits of the Continental Shelf for their continental shelf beyond 200 nautical miles in the South China Sea. There is also a dichotomy between the Military and the Politicians. Now most SE Asia countries are more independent and open.

China and India: Maritime Maneuvers and Geopolitical Shifts in the Indo

However, terrorist organizations have proven adaptable and capable of circumventing even the best guarded infrastructure. Nothing wrong with your hard ware or soft ware just that you are an upright thinking person without colored glasses.

The growing political crisis in the Maldives is a direct consequence of the intensifying Sino-Indian geopolitical rivalry. This often involves the adoption of policies that only help fulfil their worst assumptions.

Tackling Nuclear Terrorism In South Asia « The Roman Gate

US would rather maintain peaceful negotiations instead. Ironically the traditional stabilizing force in the region — the United States — is drawing down in Afghanistan and shifting its focus to the Asia-Pacific region and to Russia where new tensions have erupted. And as North Korea drifts closer to China, it is not yet clear how Beijing will respond to Pyongyang.
