The Project Gutenberg eBook of The Myths and Fables of To

The thrid wolf ar men of heritage As lordis that hes land be Goddis lane And settis to the maileris ane village And for ane tyme gressome payit and tane, Syne vexis him or half his terme be gane With pykit querrellis for to mak him fane To flit or pay his gressome new agane. Swa happinit him in waithing as he went To meit ane foxe in middis of the way. Though still a matter for debate, the structural integrity of the Fables is being rediscovered in, for instance, the thematic significance of numbers: the thematic focus of the midmost lines in The Preaching of the Swallow and The Lion and the Mouse; the symbolic value of the numbers of stanzas, as in The Fox, the Wolf, and the Cadger see the Explanatory Notes to lines 1461, 1754, and 2021—22.
