A lot of your rights as laid out in the United Nations Convention on the Rights of the Child UNCRC are also laws in Scotland.

My rights as a child and young person

These rights include the right to be full participants in our representative democracy through voting, the right to privacy, the right to be free from physical punishment, the right to make decisions about our own lives, the right to be outdoors, the right to prove ourselves, and the right to receive the same amount of respect as anyone else. It also segregates students further by age, so that older and younger students have few opportunities to interact.
