The show was based on the American television show. We are unique in the business and our staffs of private detectives are considered the most qualified compared to our counterparts in the entire region and its environs. Thank god for cell phones.

Jailed in Essex: The horrific crimes that have seen these 10 criminals locked up in just two weeks

A 37-year-old man from Pontypridd was arrested and remains in police custody. As for William Gonson, we know that he committed suicide in 1544. Part of the 1805 Ordnance Survey map By making a close comparison between the 1805 map, its 1888 successor, and modern maps, we can plot more or less exactly where the park designed by Earl Fitzwalter and his successors began and ended.

The southern boundary of the park, certainly at its western edge, followed the line of the border between Moulsham Lodge and Tile Kiln Farm estates, which some of us can remember as a footpath extending as far as Beehive Lane.

Private Investigator Essex

One feature entitled Blackwater TV was based around reviewing the case and showing mock television news reports. This is the point at which Wood Street, Longstomps and Galleywood Road meet today. She requests it back but the investigators assure her that it is best being kept with them.
