Notes from a Farmworkers Strike « Mahala

The most elementary aspiration of the rural poor, the desire for land, has been unfulfilled.

COSATU Trade unions shut down South African farm workers strike!

Bloemendal tractor driver Roger September said workers used to receive all the wood pieces cut from trees on the farm, which they sold to help pay school fees and buy uniforms. For example, in De Doorns, only 600 000 cartons of fruit were packed, compared to the usual 1 000 000.

when they can and where they can. The movement has won workers important concessions in their struggle against outsourcing. The Strike will continue on the 9 January on those farms where there is no agreement, as well as the reporting to foreign markets on specific farmers not cooperating with this process.

Lockdown responses, from farm workers to sex workers to civil society

. There were farmers who directly negotiated with their workers and reached settlements, and there were those farmers who were angered by the effects the strikes had on their business.
