Once it were to declare that it was a nuclear power, Iran would face all the international wrath and condemnation that would come with it — including for having violated the international NPT , to which it is a signatory. In addition to its dominance over the Iranian economy, the Guard is increasingly the dominant political and security force; it is responsible for safeguarding the regime and using murder, torture, and rape to crush all dissent. Numerous international energy firms are reducing their ties to Iran and some have cut or plan to cut their ties to Iran's energy sector completely.
