Kent Fund Reference Number 1894.

A Woman Preparing Bread and Butter for a Boy (Getty Museum)

To become absorbed in such a work is to gain an insight into the seventeenth century mind.

Pastoral Landscape with Ruins

To suggest otherwise is to imply a laboriousness of mental process that may well characterize modern interpretations of seventeenth-century Dutch Art, but that was, for the most part, not characteristic in the seventeenth century. Kloek with contributions by Celeste Brusati, Willem Jacob Engelsman and Dorine Duyster. How on earth has the artist managed to include them all within the same painting? Foreign things were an intriguing contrast to the world of the Dutch, but it hardly achieved a deeper empathy.

A Woman Preparing Bread and Butter for a Boy (Getty Museum)

Whilst it would be wrong to assume at the outset that we are looking into a house of ill repute, there is no denying that the composition carries an erotic charge. His inexhaustible suggestions for additional works to be included and the ramifications of the topic that he continues to develop and deepen made clear the limitations of the gallery space available. And so it does in this wonderful Manchester example.

The viewer would be allowed tantalizing glimpses of a sequence of spaces beyond the immediacy of the room being portrayed.

The Music Lesson

The power of conviction with which he substantiated loan requests was essential.
