Time Poems

The gift of time, for which no gold is weighed, Nor least petition offered to the Lord,— Shall He not still by gratitude be paid, And all our thankful days be His reward? The friend you hold so dear May be beyond the reach of all your sweet intent; May never know that you so kindly meant To fill her life with sweet content, When you had time. Of course, one would be hard-pressed to downplay The Color Purple, which catapulted her into international celebrity.

'This Is the Time for Poetry': A Conversation With Alice Walker

See, you won't even be an adult for another half of your life. Heard melodies are sweet, but those unheard Are sweeter; therefore, ye soft pipes, play on; Not to the sensual ear, but, more endear'd, Pipe to the spirit ditties of no tone: Fair youth, beneath the trees, thou canst not leave Thy song, nor ever can those trees be bare; Bold Lover, never, never canst thou kiss, Though winning near the goal yet, do not grieve; She cannot fade, though thou hast not thy bliss, For ever wilt thou love, and she be fair! The runnel slips away: The clear smooth downward sluice begins again, More brightly slanting for that trembling pause, Leaving the sense its conscious vague unease As when a sonnet flashes on the mind, Trembles and burns an instant, and is gone. Through the sharp Correct reflection of the standing scene The mind can dip, and cleanse itself with rest, And see, slow spinning in the lucid gold, Your liquid motes, imperishable Time.

9 Poems About Time, Short Poems

Or, you know, just in your life? It cuts through to the heart of what's of value in life. And so I think we have to remind ourselves of this so we don't get caught in that path that we have to have had the exact experience of someone else.

Time for Poetry: Found Poems

Hard you push, your hand is rough; You have swung me long enough. Lament who will, in fruitless tears. Excerpts and links may be used, provided that full and clear credit is given to Jennifer Isgitt and Empathic Teacher with appropriate and specific direction to the original content.

Summer Reading: Take Time for Poetry

I think the writing started first because I come from a very large family and we were very poor and there was very little space for me. The words still have to remain in order, however; so, I only allowed myself to add words that actually appeared in the sequence of the list I had already created. What can clocks tell us? Stamp wisdom on its hours.

Summer Reading: Take Time for Poetry

Each one furnished with sixty wings, With which we fly on our unseen track, And not a minute ever comes back.

Time Poems

It would help with the idea of cutting words down. An eye would think its seeing itself, but what it's seeing is god. .

'This Is the Time for Poetry': A Conversation With Alice Walker

Wake: the silver dusk returning Up the beach of darkness brims, And the ship of sunrise burning Strands upon the eastern rims.
