LADY LEVER ART GALLERY

Once she had resolved on selling her pair, like so many other Turner owners before her, she eventually approached Agnew's in London, apparently effecting the transaction on 16 November 1978.

J.M.W. TURNER R.A., Margate: Cold Harbour Beach, with the Cliff at Fort Point and Jarvis's Landing Place

A record of the collections in the Lady Lever Art Gallery formed by the Viscount Leverhulme, with introductory essays and descriptive text, by R. Furthermore the style and colouring are more consistent with those found in watercolours Turner was producing a decade or more later. Ian Warrell First published in Turner Society News Notes 1.

Port Sunlight, Wirral, Cheshire: Introduction

Writing from Denmark Hill on 10 September, he confirmed that the works Blodgett had newly acquired were indeed nos 13 and 14 in the sale of his collection back in April.
