The Art of Film Lighting: Understanding and manipulating light from an artistic standpoint

The selection of a film stock is one of the first decisions made in preparing a typical film production. For proper selection, the cinematographer needs that all lenses be engraved with , not so that the eventual light loss due to the glass doesn't affect the exposure control when setting it using the usual meters.

Chiaroscuro

I tried to recreate the effect in this music video. I totally agree with your set up by not totally hiding the source of light from the window as the natural light from outside also serve the purpose of filling shadows with a bit of light for the rest of the scene by bouncing on the white ceiling as it is not a good idea to shoot with shadows as dark as we see on the painting.
