Observations of Comets from BC 611 to Ad 1640 : Extracted from the Chinese Annals, Translated with Introductory Remarks

Moving from Wen-Chang it penetrated the Dou-Shao Big Dipper , passed Geng-He and reached Zuo-She-Di.

Approximate Orbits of Ancient and Medieval Comets

However, approximate orbital elements can be derived from two positions and a definite path of a comet determined by trial and error.

Observations of Comets: From B. C. 611 to A. D. 1640

The astronomers would have been saved anyway. On the evening of the twenty-seventh day, a kanoto-u xin-mao, 28 day 1266 February 3 , the comet was seen in the west at Shi 13th lunar mansion. Stories like these illustrate premodern cultural exchange between Europe and China, and also the circulation of scientific ideas throughout Asia.

Observations of Comets, From B. C. 611 to A. D. 640

Remarks and Discussion published their orbit determinations of ancient comets recorded in Chinese histories, and included our ten comets presented here. Virtually there is no year in which several new comets are not discovered, so plentiful are they.
