National Policy for Women Empowerment

Girls and boys enjoy formally equal schooling. Canada supports inclusive governance by investing in the rights of women, their participation in politics, their legal authority and their access to justice, as well as by helping create an enabling environment for civil society.

Gender equality in Canada: Where do we stand today?

This shift will establish Canada as a feminist donor and a leader in promoting the empowerment of women and girls around the world. Unlike private practice, individuals employed in non-profits, the government, and legal service organizations are not under pressure to meet high billable hour quotas, gain face-time with partners, or spend free time on client development activities. In Saré Souma, women financed the rehabilitation of the communal well and bought desks for the school.

Impact of government policies

Buoyed by success, the women have expanded the project to include mangos, cashews and forest fruits. The 2030 Agenda recognizes that there can be no sustainable development without peace, and no peace without sustainable development reflected in SDG 16: Peace, Justice and Strong Institutions.

Public service

To support Inclusive Governance we will work to end gender discrimination by promoting and protecting human rights, advancing the rule of law and building stronger institutions. If they did, 52 million unintended pregnancies could be prevented each year.

Advancing gender equality and empowering women and girls

Sit-ins Sit-ins are a peaceful way of demonstrating against an issue by causing great inconvenience and delay to the people trying to implement the decision.
