Enhancing health & safety culture & performance

Total Worker Health® is defined as policies, programs, and practices that integrate protection from work-related safety and health hazards with promotion of injury and illness-prevention efforts to advance worker well-being.

Total Worker Health

Pursuant to the Occupational Safety and Health Act the OSH Act or the Act , employers must comply with safety and health standards and regulations issued and enforced either by OSHA or by an OSHA-approved state plan.

Promising Practices for Total Worker Health

Except for workplace settings covered by OSHA's ETS and mask requirements for public transportation, most employers no longer need to take steps to protect their workers from COVID-19 exposure in any workplace, or well-defined portions of a workplace, where all employees are fully vaccinated. For instance, putting in new risk controls such as machine safeguarding, guardrails, or anti-slip floor treatments demonstrates commitment to protecting workers and preventing injuries.
