

Cultural relics unearthed in KwangsiChuang autonomous region.

Wenwu Press - The Northern Zone of China and the Eurasian Steppe in the Early Iron Age

Description: -

-Cultural relics unearthed in KwangsiChuang autonomous region.

-Cultural relics unearthed in KwangsiChuang autonomous region.

Notes: Text in Chinese, abstract in English.

This edition was published in 1978

Filesize: 32.52 MB

Tags: #Cultural #relics #unearthed #in #Xinjiang #on #display #at #National #Museum

Cultural relics of China's Xinjiang to feature in national museum

It has gradually become an important study in international archaeological circles. The administrative regulations related to the legal protection of cultural relics in China include the Regulation for the Implementation of the Cultural Relic Protection Law P. Based on the dating of the unearthed relics, the preliminary conclusion is that the site was used between 430 and 490, Zhang said.

Cultural relics of China's Xinjiang to feature in national museum

Beijing: China Renmin University Press. China is an ancient and large country of culture and occupies an important position in the global movement for the protection of cultural relics. By comparing and analyzing the theory of cultural relics legislation mode in different countries, the legislative way of cultural relics protection in China should belong to the legislative mode of coexistence of comprehensive legislation and special single legislation.

Tibet sees progress in preserving cultural relics

The competent cultural relics administrative department shall give guidance and support to such mass organization for the protection of cultural relics in its activities. Without written authorization from CDIC, such content shall not be republished or used in any form. Owners of the cultural relics must abide by the relevant state regulations governing the protection and control of cultural relics.

Law of the People's Republic of China on Protection of Cultural Relics[5]

The law integrates general principles, cultural property, landscape property and penalties, covering almost all aspects of cultural relics protection. Article 55 Where, in violation of the provisions of these Regulations, anyone undertakes the repair, removal or reconstruction of a site protected for its historical and cultural value without obtaining a qualification certificate of an appropriate grade for projects designed to protect cultural relics, it shall be ordered by the competent cultural relics administrative department to make corrections within a specified time limit; if it fails to make corrections within the specified time limit, or causes serious consequences, a fine of not less than 50,000 yuan but not more than 500,000 yuan shall be imposed; if a crime is constituted, criminal liability shall be investigated in accordance with law.

Cultural relics of China's Xinjiang to feature in national museum

No major historical and cultural sites protected at the national level may be dismantled; where such a site needs to be moved to another place, the matter shall be reported by the peoples government of the relevant province, autonomous region, or municipality directly under the Central Government to the State Council for approval. However, the use of separate legislative models may lead to too many laws and waste of resources. As the core law in the area of historic preservation, the law binds all local governments at or above county level where famous cities of historical and cultural value are located to the responsibility of making historic preservation plans as part of the statutory comprehensive plans.

Cultural relics unearthed in Xinjiang on display at National Museum

The explorers used drones to take aerial footage of the area. Article 50 The duration for the exhibition of cultural relics out of the country shall not be longer than one year. Article 30 With regard to archaeological excavations which have to be carried out along with a construction project, the administrative department for cultural relics under the peoples government of the relevant province, autonomous region, or municipality directly under the Central Government shall submit an excavation plan based on the result of prospecting to the administrative department for cultural relics under the State Council for approval.

Related Books

- Passage-through-communitas - an interpretive analysis of enculturation in art education
- Womans worth
- Pamphlets on international history in the British Library of Political and Economic Science.
- Lehrbuch der Harmonie - praktische Anleitung zu den Studien in darselben
- Śrī Nilobā caritra