14 Ways to Reduce Water Waste

In the years to come, Pakistan will need more water to grow more food for its growing population, and the country will need to increase crop yields. For instance, a grassy swale or downspout extension can be built to deliver runoff to a dry well or rain garden. They can come in many styles and sizes.

To put things in perspective, take a quick look at your next water bill when it arrives. Recycle Your Greywater Water that has been used at least once but is still clean enough for other jobs is called greywater. This is enough oil to fuel 100,000 American cars for a year.

Why the relationship between water and agriculture needs to change

Most irrigation and drainage projects take longer than planned, and even then complete with less than fully satisfactory outcomes due to basic challenges in design and contracting. Along with educating people on water wastage there is an urgent need to start pricing water like the precious commodity it is instead of giving it for free - Pakistanis are notorious for not giving a damn about anything that's free.

Water in Agriculture

If you have heavy runoff from roof downspouts and neighboring properties, redirecting or capturing runoff can provide better control.

Why the relationship between water and agriculture needs to change

Even now, the sugar industry is placing ads in national dailies seeking to increase their sugar production to one million tonnes.
